PUBLICIS (TORONTO):: CANADA POST CORP - DESIGNER / ART DIRECTOR [BILINGUAL LAYOUTS] (2016-2020)

After 6 years working primarily on Rogers Communications projects, I shifted within the agency to the Canada Post team. While the Rogers team had been comprised of multiple Writer/Art Director teams to handle all aspects of the business, CPC only had one dedicated team to handle all of theirs. I was welcomed as design support and also to share in the art direction responsibilities.

We were running multiple campaigns throughout the year, adhering to styleguides, practices and standards dictated by CPC's various branches of business. The tone would shift from playful to business-minded to heartfelt, all depending on the product and where the ad was being targeted. Sometimes, our copy would remain the same, but the image would be Lifestyle-based for ads served on Facebook vs utilizing icons/illustration for ads served on LinkedIn.

These are a few examples of the type of work, where it would be served up and some of the assets used. In addition to utilizing stock imagery and assets, we organized photoshoot sessions to build a photo asset library for some of our ongoing ad campaigns.

B.A. JOHNSTON'S HAM JAM: SEGMENT BUMPERS (2019)

B.A. Johnston's Ham Jam is a travelogue of sorts, where B.A. takes you on a tour of Hamilton, exploring all things strange, forgotten or awesome. Six episodes aired on Bell Fibe Network in Spring 2019 and are available online on YouTube.

I was approached to create some static, classic-videogame-themed artwork for an episode focused on Hamilton's arcades. The ask was for title-cards to intro each segment of the episode, a total of five images. The idea was that they would fade-in with some 8-bit music playing and act sort of like a level-intro screen in a classic videogame.

After discussing the project, we agreed the static images would be much better animated, so I began compiling a list of classic games I could do alternate sprite-sheets for and animate our own short, personalized segments.

I used Street Fighter II for the "Character Select" screen, Super Mario Bros, River City Ransom and Mike Tyson's Punch-Out for the arcade segments and, of course, Ms. Pac-Man for the Captain Canada interview.

The music was created for each segment by Travis Taylor and the audio design was taken from my direction and mixed by Alex Unger.

CANADA POST:
ST50 (2016), FEARLESS LEADERS (2017)

Initially brought on to fill in some gaps for the creative we produced for the 50th Anniversary of Star Trek: The Original Series, I had helped tidy up some Van Wrap designs as well as lay out the microsite. This was valuable experience which I applied when I was given the project to celebrate Starfleet's finest the following year.

The new campaign singled out the captains of each series and a handful of their adversaries on the stamps and products, but it also came with a wealth of sci-fi assets. Working on this was a joy.

Using assets provided by(and in some cases, approved by) Paramount, we created a scalable microsite, some newspaper ads, digital banners, a short video bumper and a van wrap.

CHRYSLER: FACEBOOK CANVAS FOR THE 2017 CHRYSLER PACIFICA (2017)

The agency was asked to come up with a concept to utilize the then-new Facebook Canvas platform. I hopped on to concept and create canvases to showcase three elements of the Pacifica: Award-Winning Safety Features, Design paired with Technology, and the environmentally conscious Hybrid version.

The mandate was to explore all the available features a canvas could offer, provided the assets allowed for it. After experimenting with the platform a bit, I had to come up with a creative work-around in order to make the ad feel like it was worth spending time with. The “Tilt” feature was a fun way to surprise a user and let them interact, but it only supported images, no video. In order to further surprise and delight the user, I exported an animated GIF into the tilt module.

The work was well received and a blast to make!

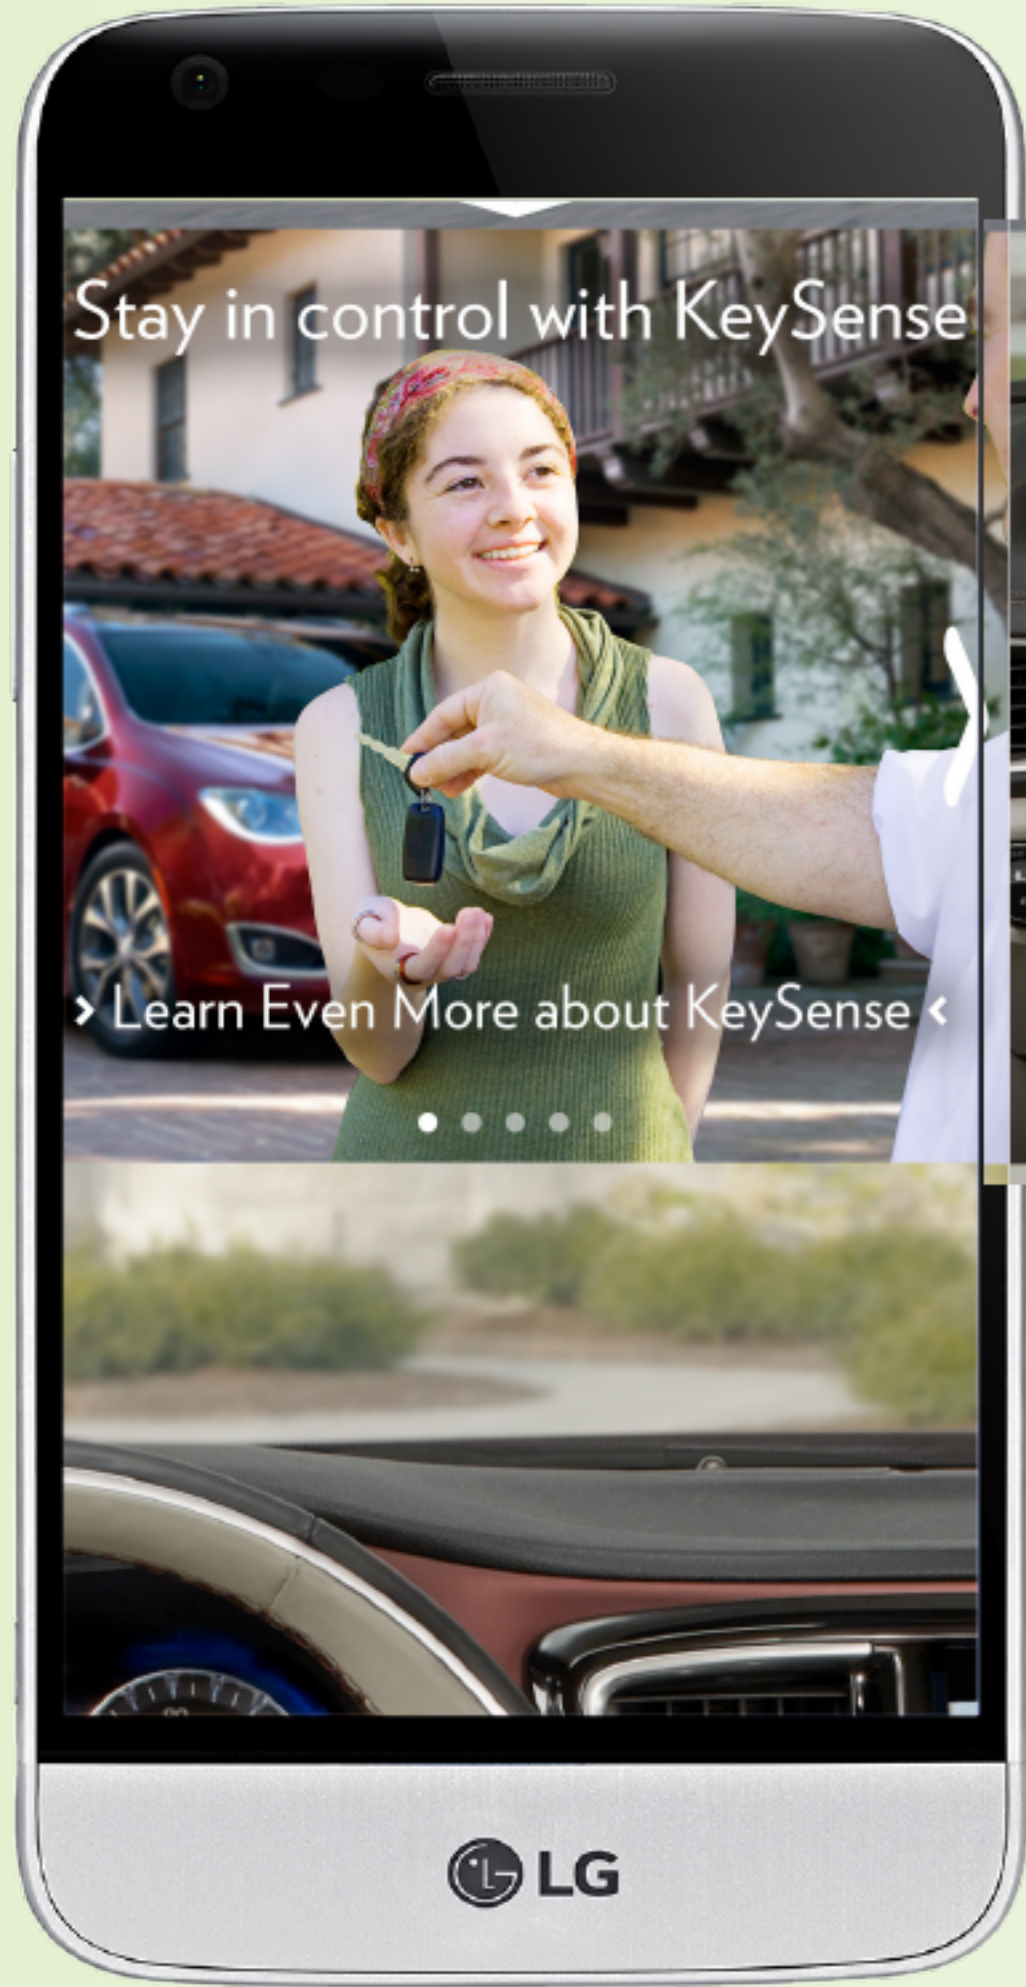

Open with a tracking shot of the Pacifica driving on a coastal road. As we cut through our interior shots, supers are ticking onto the screen and fading out quickly before we blur, serve up a closing line and then fade to the logo line.

NHL PARTNERSHIP – HOCKEY NIGHT HEROES (2016), THE ULTIMATE SIX (2017), 100 YEARS OF THE MAPLE LEAFS (2017)

HOCKEY NIGHT HEROES

This was my first full project executed with the Canada Post partnership with the NHL. We were featuring six players that we considered Great Canadian Forwards. We played with some concepts that involved a museum/hall of fame aesthetic, but ultimately settled on showcasing the players and products on hallowed ground—the rink.

The microsite was designed to be responsive in order to accommodate desktop, phones and tablets.

THE ULTIMATE SIX

This series of collectible stamps act as a love letter to the players we consider The Ultimate Six in NHL history. To give these players the Hockey Hall of Fame treatment, I designed a page that mimicked a trophy case in an arena.

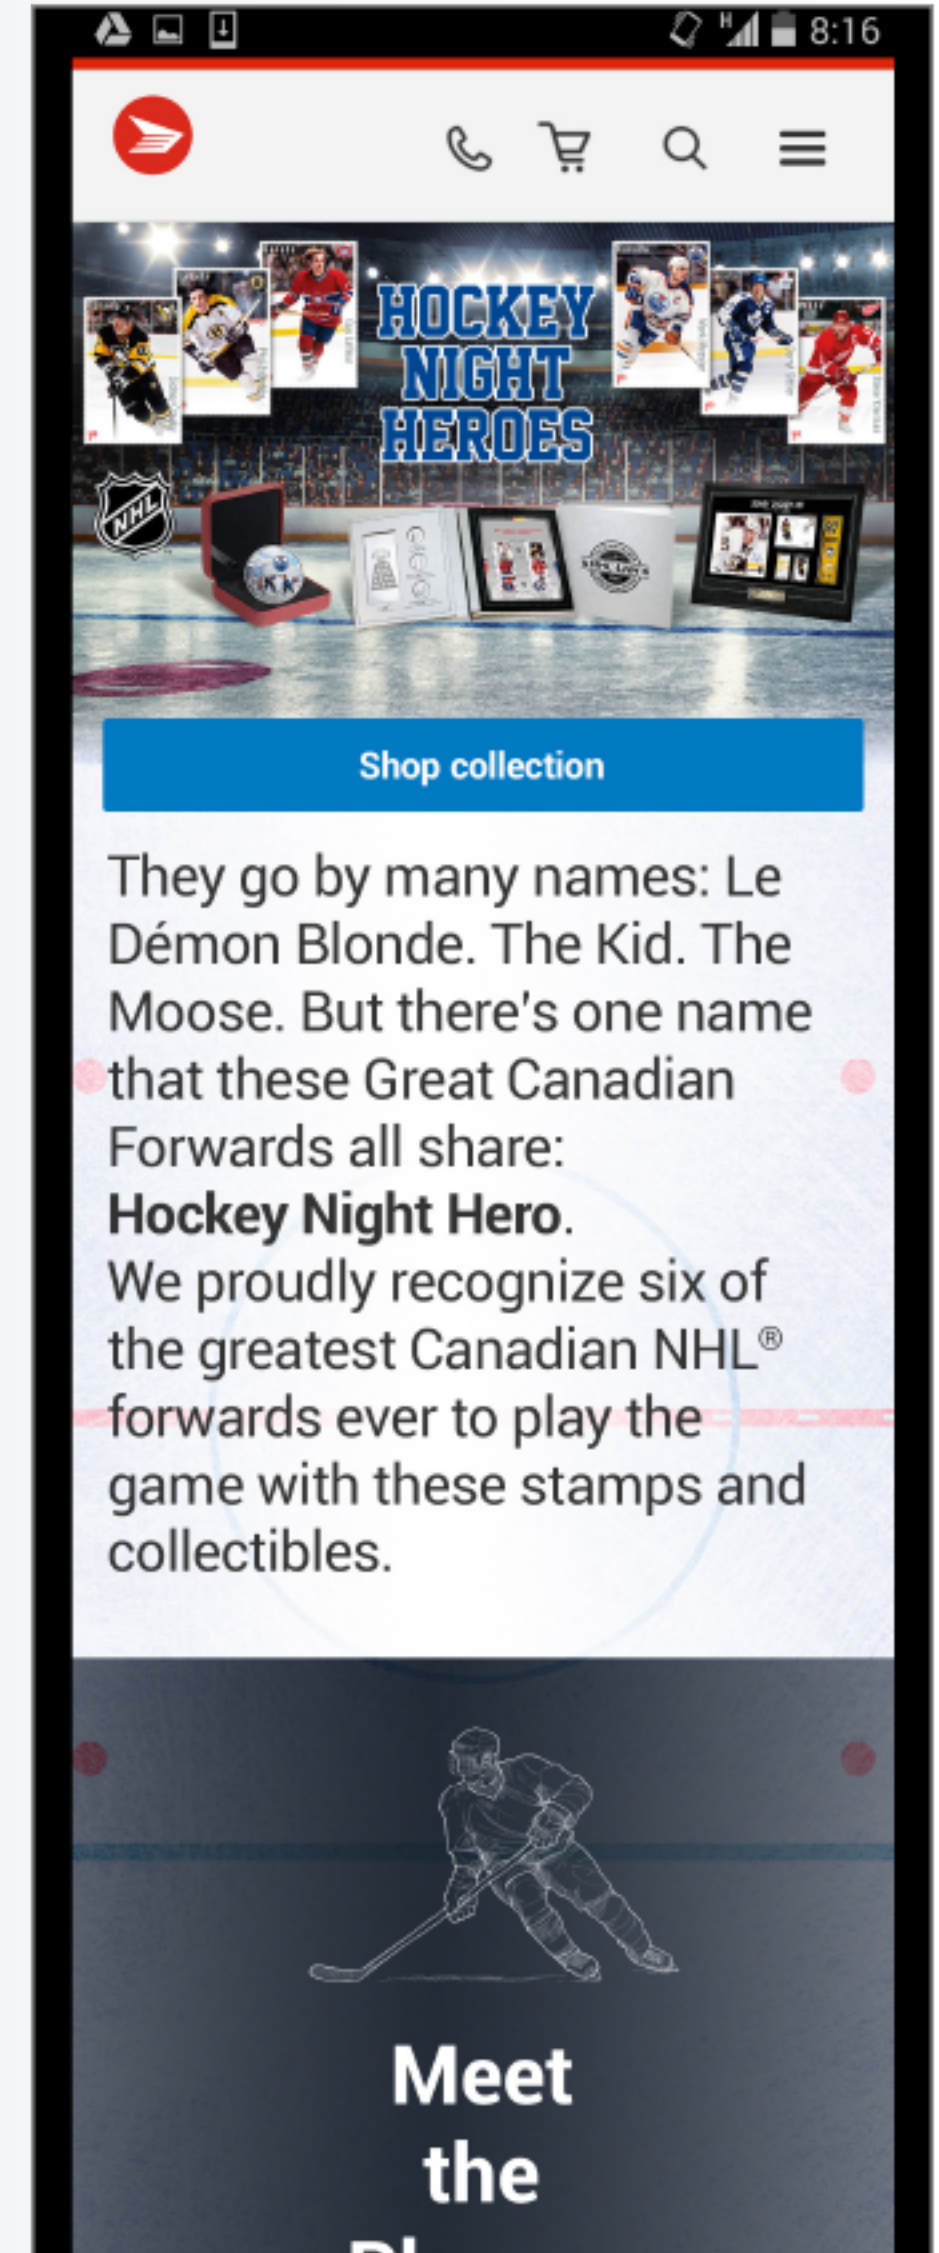

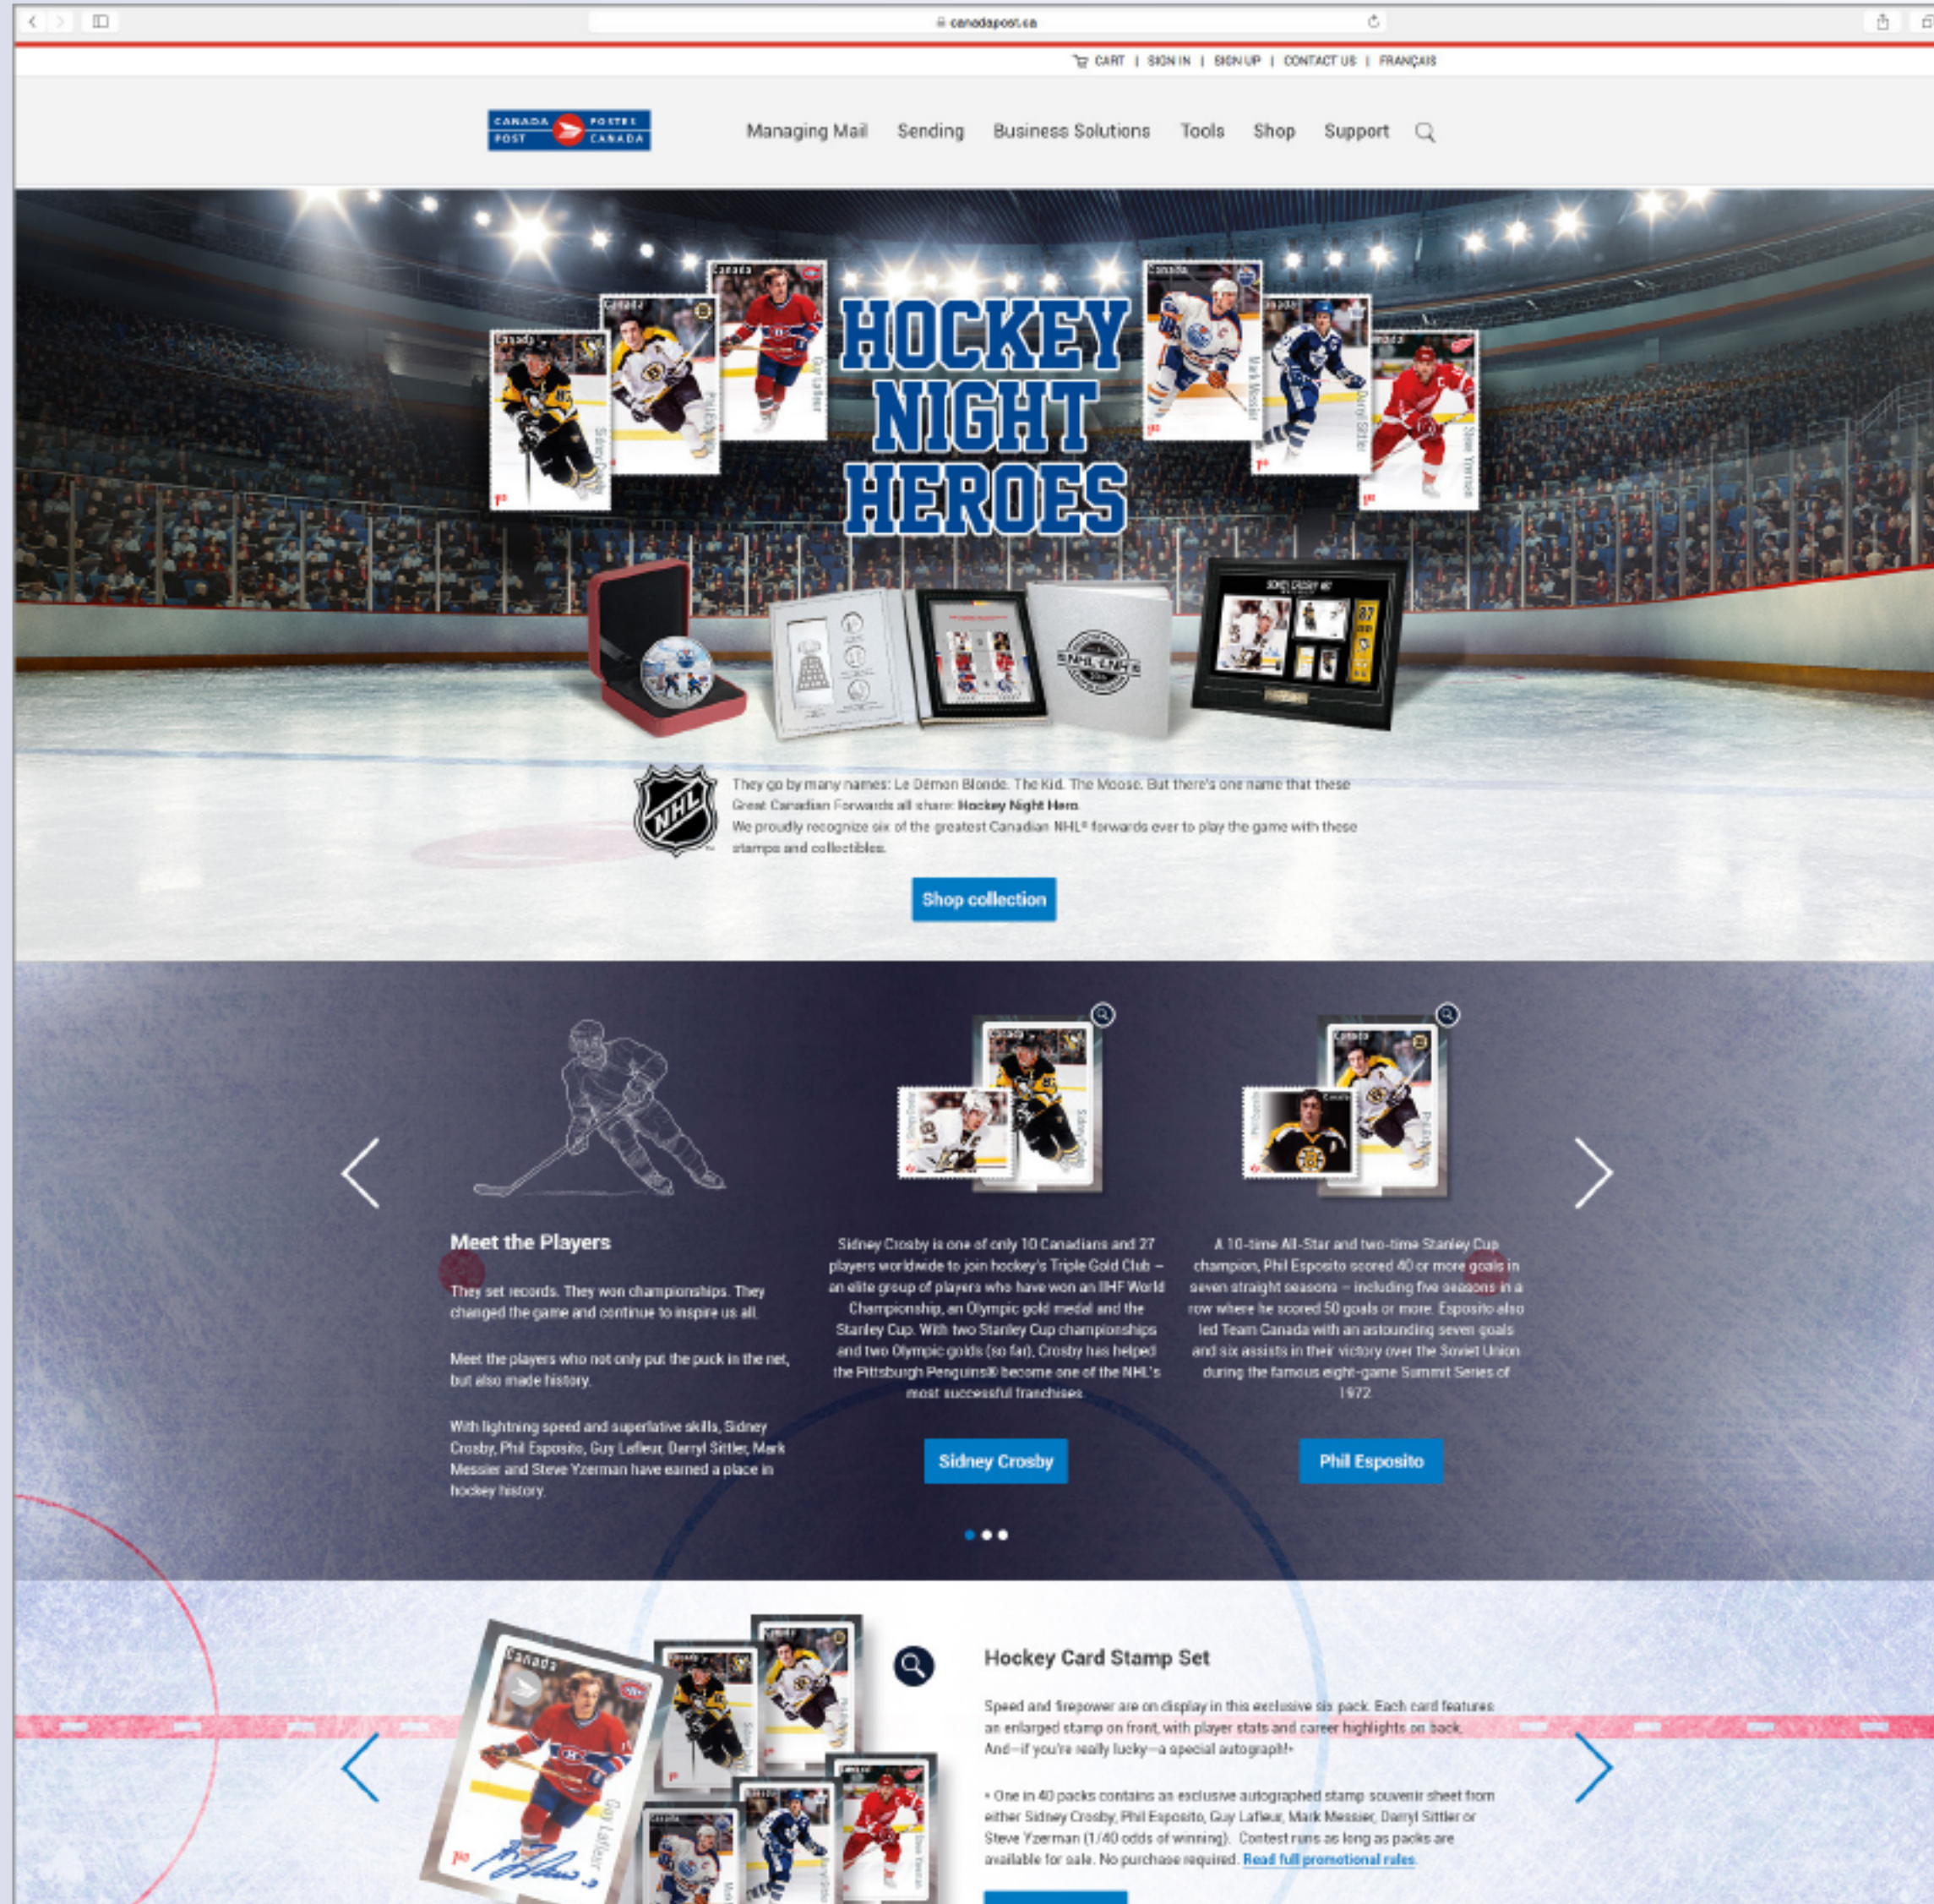

Velvet lined inlets, lit by recessed lights, showcase the players and the hero products. Below the header, the section modules are separated visually using frosted glass with laser-etched hockey graphics, mounted above the concrete wall our trophy case is built into.

I designed the site to be reactive when developed. Once the window resizes to a certain width, the layout switches to the mobile/tablet layout, scaling appropriately according to whatever screen it was on. Product images and module layouts changed from a horizontal layout to a vertical one.

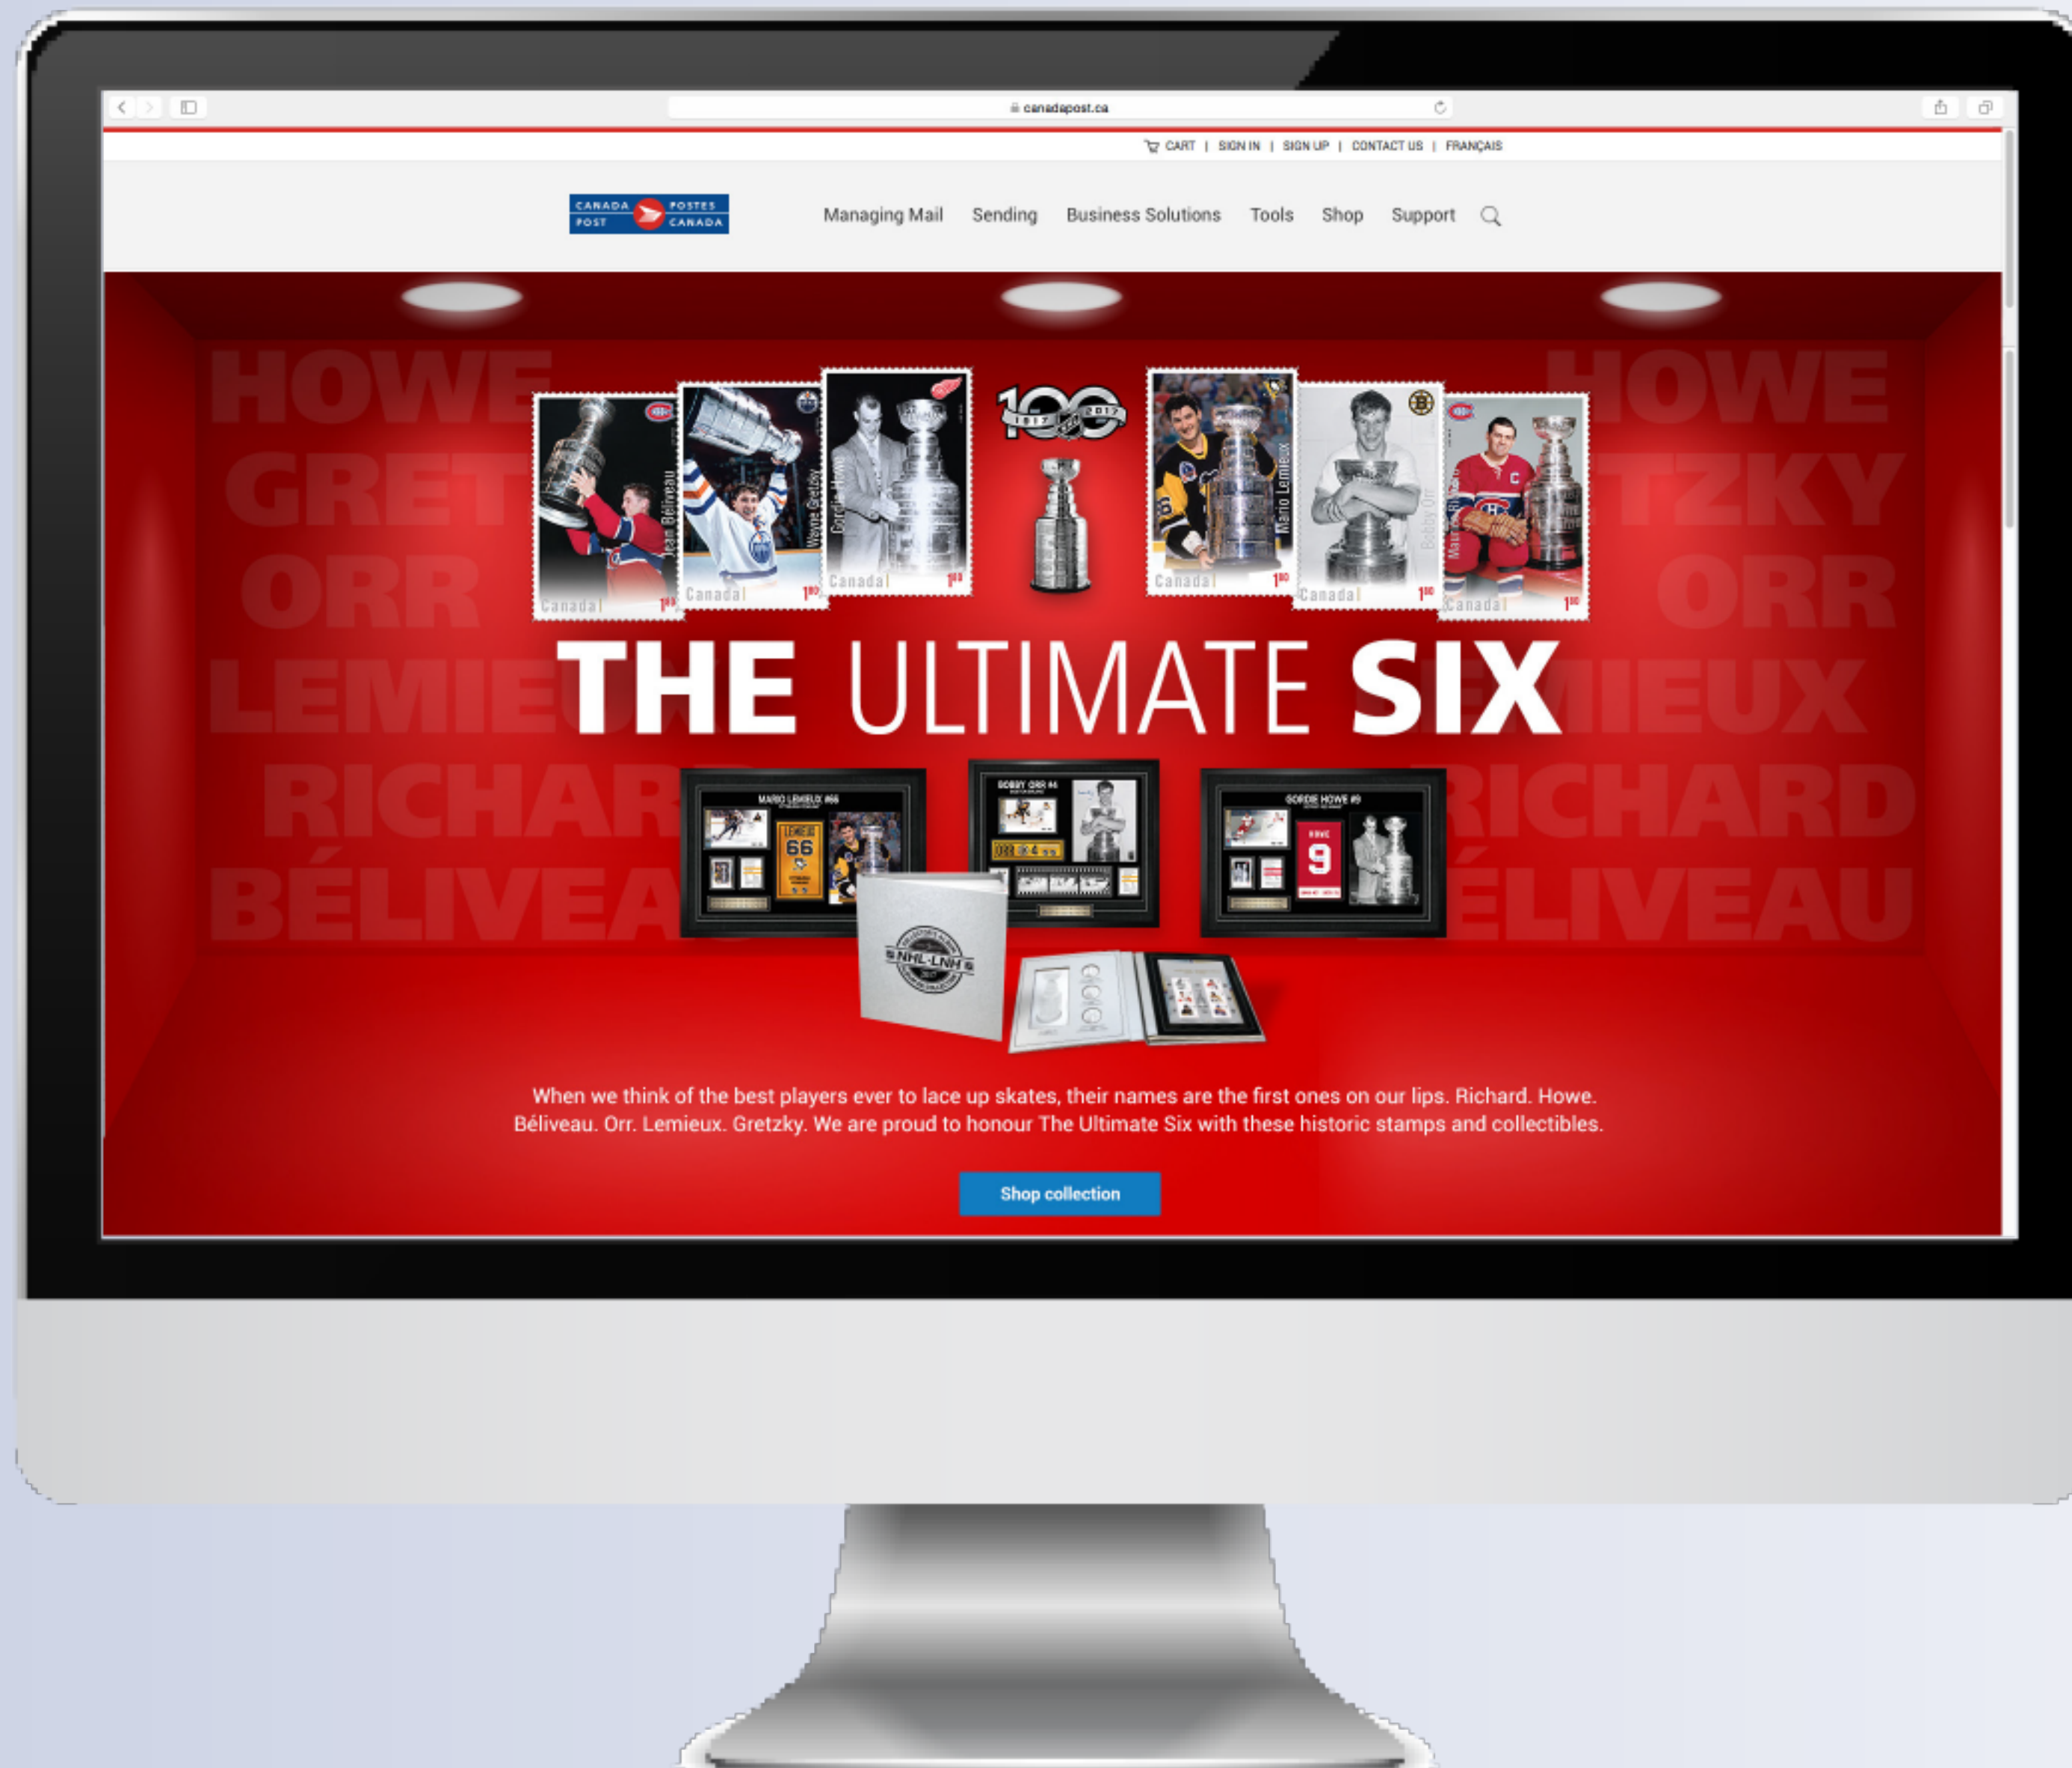

100 YEARS OF THE LEAFS

This Leafs-centric line of stamps needed a showcase microsite that communicated the passion Leafs fans feel straight up front before moving onto product presentation. On a short timeline, faced with a lack of provided assets, the team convinced as many employees/fans as possible to show up to work with their Leafs’ Jerseys. We did a quick photoshoot outdoors and ended up with a fantastic range of photos to choose from to visually sell all the emotions.

CELEBRATE 100 YEARS OF THE TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS®

For a century, Toronto hockey fans have given their hearts to the Maple Leafs. There has long been an unbreakable bond between those who wear the blue and white and those who cheer them on. Share your pride with these special stamps and collectibles.

AKENDI INC.: INSURANCE INSTITUTE OF CANADA PARTNERSHIP – DIGITAL CONTENT STYLE GUIDE [BILINGUAL] (APRIL, 2022)

The ask for this project was to take a long word doc and transmute it into an easy-to-digest PDF for employees of the Insurance Institute of Canada(IIC), complete with graphic elements, charts and images. We needed it designed in InDesign with an integrated Table of Contents that would dynamically update if a corresponding section header was changed. During the design process, care was taken to ensure enough space would be available to accommodate layouts for both English and French language versions.

The document itself is considered Confidential and for the Internal Use of the IIC only, so I won't be posting any of its contents here. However, if you would like to see examples of the layout and structure, I can definitely provide some via screenshare.
